

Obama Era

Dear Mr. President

Letter 2: A New Plan is Given

Mr. President, may I address another detail? There seems to be a major break in Church and State, in legal details. Can you hear me in the midst of the angry members of the different ways in religion and nonreligious standing? Those who vote against the very core of this detail surely hope for a remedy greater than a few empty promises. You need a Helper with you who is able to give you very firm ways to move in dealing with the religious and with those who play their own lowercase god.

How do you truly feel, knowing so many people hope that you would actually change this nation? Churches put up pictures of you in place of King Jesus, based solely on your race than on the wisdom needed from the Great Way King Jesus. You have great delegated authority, and this is not due based on a plan that a voter made you their way of a figurehead. You surely have delegated authority based on King Jesus placing you in that office for this season in this nation known as the United States of America.

Do you know how it feels to have a loyal following that will not desert you when you become unpopular with others? Who is really with you? Power will make many say they are walking with you. But most leaders cannot take true friendships in a deep way: Too many will hate or kill for any way to exalt their own way. Tell me, who can you truly talk to concerning how you truly think of this nation's debt and major racial struggles? Who has a way with you in that way, where you can boldly give your true heart in sharing this weight that is upon you?

Look at the people using you. Look at the people saying they are with you. But who would say this if it meant they would lose everything, including their reputation? Do you have a friend such as this? There will be a day where you will truly need a major counseling session with a true leader in touch with the One who is the only real Helper you will ever need.

It is that time to look deeper into the root issues concerning Church and State to bring deep breakage into this nation. You have a great longing within for real change, but with moving with no actual power to shift those issues, you stand alone against a major mountain flowing with lava that cannot be moved or handled with touch. You need a lift over this mountain you have in your way just due to your position in this nation. It truly is not a mountain that you created: The mountain of issues was handed down to each nation's leader, and it grew over many years. This way of being hot lava is a representation of those details yet to still solve in the very fabric you carry as the nation's leader. How can you do all of this cleaning and fixing? You truly cannot, for the old way must be blown up, where a new foundation is built, where all new leaders will take on a clean slate, with setups that move in building a nation—not having it split to give each group their own way.

Reconsider, Mr. President. Reconsider what you dwell on this day. You cannot fix it. There must be a yielding in you, where you truly give up your way over to the proposal you will drink deeply in a major power way in the King. There will be many against you, with a fierce way to show it. You have to be strong in what will be given in the Great Way King Jesus. It may sound impossible. It may be considered absurd. But even with these earthly wills given by others, you must know within you that a plan in true freedom shall be given in this major structural shift. Be ready to drink it within you, sir.
